Artefacts and narratives of migration: Rotherham Museum collections and the Pakistani/Kashmiri community of Rotherham

This application involves collaboration between the University of Sheffield, Creative Partnerships, the Rotherham Museum, one school in Rotherham and a visual artist. It seeks to develop an ethnographic-style research project that investigates narratives of migration as instantiated in artefacts in the homes of the Pakistani/Kashmiri community in Rotherham. It investigates what these families make of the collection of artefacts in Rotherham museums. It aims to provide an exhibition of use to the local schools and community and a work of art by the visual artist as well as a dataset of interviews and photographs of the families' narratives and artefacts.
